Correction

Correction for: KIFC1 promotes proliferation and pseudo-bipolar division of ESCC through the transportation of Aurora B kinase

Bin Du[1,], Lingyu Wei[2,], Jia Wang[1], Yanyan Li[1], Jing Huo[3], Jinsheng Wang[4], Pu Wang[1]

[1]Center of Healthy Aging, Changzhi Medical College, Changzhi 047500, China
[2]Department of Pathology, Affiliated HePing Hospital of Changzhi Medical College, Changzhi 047500, China
[3]Department of Pathology, The First Clinical College of Changzhi Medical College, Changzhi 047500, China
[4]Department of Biology, Changzhi Medical College, Changzhi 047500, China
[*]Equal contribution and co-first authors

Correspondence to: Pu Wang, Jinsheng Wang; email: wangpu@czmc.edu.cn, jshwang@czmc.edu.cn
Keywords: KIFC1, Aurora B, ESCC, proliferation, pseudo-bipolar division

Original article: Aging (Albany NY) 2023; 15: pp 12633-12650

PMID: 37955677 PMCID: PMC10683620 doi: 10.18632/aging.205203

This article has been corrected: The authors corrected affiliations for the authors Jing Huo[3] and Jinsheng Wang[4]. The correct authors list with the corresponding affiliations is presented below.

Bin Du[1,], Lingyu Wei[2,], Jia Wang[1], Yanyan Li[1], Jing Huo[3], Jinsheng Wang[4], Pu Wang[1]

[1]Center of Healthy Aging, Changzhi Medical College, Changzhi 047500, China
[2]Department of Pathology, Affiliated HePing Hospital of Changzhi Medical College, Changzhi 047500, China
[3]Department of Biology, Changzhi Medical College, Changzhi 047500, China
[4]Department of Pathology, The First Clinical College of Changzhi Medical College, Changzhi 047500, China

[*]Equal contribution and co-first authors